LBJ's Stand Stirs Up Storm

2 Killed, 2 Children Missing

Thousands Flee Flooded Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Destructive flood waters spilled over widespread areas of the Midwest today. Thousands of persons sought shelter as their homes were filled with water.

Two persons were killed Wednesday in a southern Minnesota rain storm and two children were missing after they were seen playing near the swollen Battle Creek River in Minnesota's Ramsey County.

Demos Seek Quick OK Of Health Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders, ignoring Republican charges of "rubber stamp," press today for passage by nightfall of a $6-billion health care-Social Security bill.

Republicans concentrated their efforts on a preliminary vote, expected late today, on substituting for the bill President Johnson backs one introduced by Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis.

The Byrnes bill is similar in most respects to the administration measure, but would not provide payroll tax increases to finance a hospital benefit for the aged. Instead, the bill would provide higher payments by participants and general Treasury subsidy.

Democrats, however, said they have the votes to pass the administration version overwhelmingly.

"The Congress of the United States has become a rubber stamp," Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., said Wednesday in a speech complaining that the bill had not been given adequate airing in public hearings.

BOMB EXPLODES IN BOOK STORE

CHICAGO (AP) — A small bomb exploded on a shelf inside a book store on Chicago's near North Side Wednesday, causing minor damage.

Police said the store received a small bomb through the mail in October, but it did not explode.

A clerk, Mrs. Kathleen Ban of Chicago, was in the store alone when the bomb exploded Wednesday. She was not injured.

Mrs. Ban was quoted by police as saying three young men had been browsing in the store about 10 minutes before the bomb exploded in the rear of the shop.

Aging Warrior Starts Last Voyage Soon

CHICAGO (AP) — The destroyer escort USS Daniel A. Joy, flagship of the Navy's "Cornbelt fleet" on the Great Lakes, will leave Chicago Saturday on her final journey.

The aging, grey-hulled warrior, which has had a 15-year duty tour in the Great Lakes, is headed for deactivation at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

The 1,450-ton Joy, largest Navy warship assigned to the Great Lakes, will be replaced in mid-June by the destroyer escort USS Parle, which has never anti-submarine warfare equipment.

The Joy, a veteran of World War II action in the Atlantic and Pacific, has been operating in the Great Lakes as a training ship for Naval Reservists.

However, during the Berlin crisis of 1961, the Joy and her selected reserve crew was recalled to active duty in the Atlantic, returning to Chicago the following summer.

An estimated 1,000 persons have been forced from their homes in several Iowa areas. Dozens of communities were in danger of their creeping flood waters.

Officials said flood damage in Cherokee, a town of 8,500 in northwestern Iowa could exceed $2 million.

The Weather Bureau forecast up to 1 inch of rain by Friday. Cherokee was struck when the Little Sioux River surged to 27.1 feet, before dropping to 25 feet Wednesday. Flood stage is 17 feet.

Northeastern Iowa battled the rampaging Cedar River. Central Iowa was hard pressed to hold back the Des Moines River.

Some residential and business areas in the Waterloo-Cedar Falls vicinity were under water. An estimated 100 homes were evacuated in southwestern Fort Dodge.

The Red Cross said it was caring for 135 persons in shelters in Cherokee, Webster City, Marshalltown and Waterloo, and for 346 flood victims in several other cities.

April rains which struck large portions of the country Wednesday, mixed with mild temperatures, melted the remnants of some deep snowpacks, filling rivers and streams to overflowing.

Generally clear weather favored conditions in flooded portions of Minnesota, but new snow fell on top of the deep old snow cover along the Canadian border area, increasing the flood danger.

The Red Cross said about 500 families had been evacuated in southern Minnesota and the figure was expected to jump to 3,200 within the next few days, when more rivers began rising in southeastern Minnesota and southwestern Wisconsin.

Severe storms battered sections of northern Texas, south central Oklahoma and Nebraska during the night. A tornado struck Anadarko, in southwestern Oklahoma, damaging a rest home and other property. The 120 patients in the rest home were not injured.

Hail pelted Oklahoma city and winds were clocked at 72 m.p.h. in a thunderstorm. Strong winds and hail and rain also lashed Omaha and parts of south central Nebraska, including Hastings and York.

Thunderstorms which swept areas in the southeast Wednesday tapered off to showers. In South Carolina the worst hail storm in 40 years battered a 65-mile path in the Columbia area.

Rain continued in scattered sections with heaviest amounts reported in the western half of the nation.

200 Cong Killed At Binh Dinh

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. officials claimed today that up to 200 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed Wednesday night in a major battle with Vietnamese marines in Binh Dinh Province, about 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Five South Vietnamese were reported killed and 25 wounded. There were no American casualties, the Americans said.

It was the second major success claimed this week in the ground war against the Communists. U.S. officials reported Wednesday that 276 Viet Cong were killed and 33 captured in a three-day battle in the Mekong River delta 130 miles southwest of Saigon. Six Americans and 16 South Vietnamese soldiers died in that battle.

In Saigon, young naval officers staged a mutiny against their commander, Adm. Chung Tan Cang, but the revolt appeared to have the approval of the government and the other South Vietnamese armed forces. It looked as if the admiral was ousted.

Sources in the government said Cang, a close associate of ousted strong man Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, had ignored repeated requests to resign. The (Continued On Page 15)

Parachute Jump Injuries Fatal To Gen. Hester

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. John K. Hester, commander of the U.S. 17th Air Force, died today of brain damage suffered in a parachute jump. Hester, 48, had been in a coma since the accident April 2.

Hester was injured when he landed with a partly inverted chute after jumping from an altitude of 1,250 feet.

Doctors performed emergency surgery to relieve pressure and remove a clot from the brain's surface, but Hester never regained consciousness.

Hester had attended jump school to better understand the Air Force role in providing support for the Army.

The fatal jump was the final one in a series of five. A native of Plains, Mont., Hester is survived by his widow, Helen, and two children, Virginia and John K. III.

Gen. Stilwell Serious

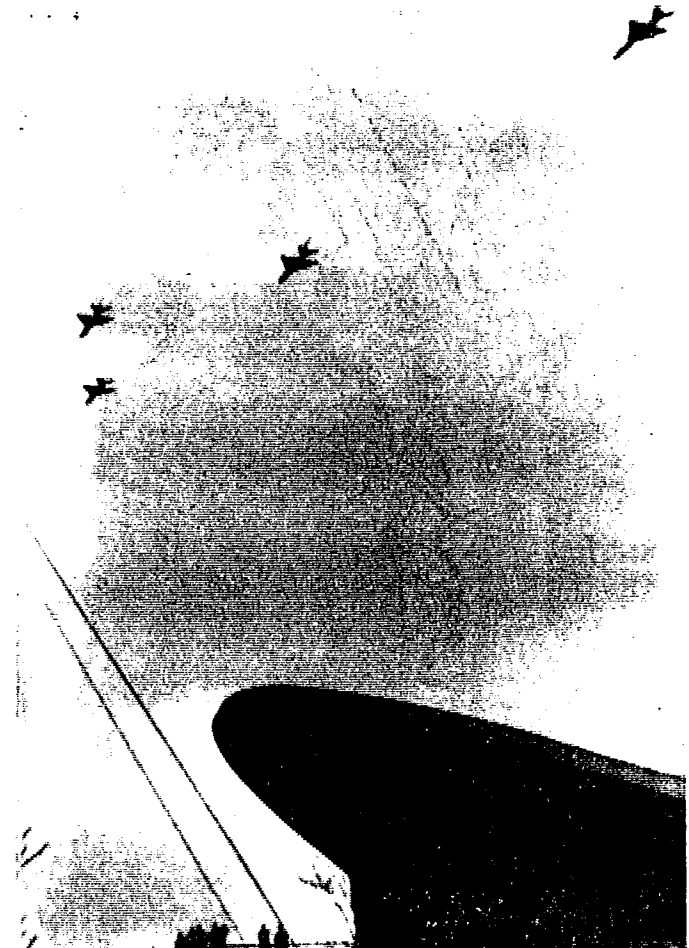

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The Army said today that Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell, 53, injured here April 1 in a parachute jump, "is holding his own very nicely" but still on the seriously ill list.

Stilwell slammed onto the ground in a free fall jump from a helicopter. The Army said both of his parachutes failed to function properly. He suffered injury to the lower back, pelvis and heels.

He is the son of the late Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell of World War II fame.

COLLISION KILLS TWO
YORKVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Two persons were killed and three injured Wednesday night in a collision at Illinois 47 and Illinois 71.

The victims were Donald Wolfe, 68, of Bristol, Wis., and Herman Zamman, 7, of Ottawa, Ill.

REDS BUZZ BERLIN — WEST BERLIN — Four Russian MIG's fly over Congress Hall here Wednesday during opening session of the West German Parliament. Soviet jets buzzed buildings for the first time and fired blank shells to show their displeasure with the "Bundestag's" first meeting here in seven years. U. S. Army Convoy Challenges Blockade

By JOHN O. KOEHLER
BERLIN (AP) — The Communists closed the Berlin autobahn for three hours today. They reopened it one hour after a U.S. Army convoy challenged the blockade.

There was no way of learning immediately whether the barricades were lifted because of the U.S. challenge or whether the Communists had planned a shutdown of only three hours. That was the length of the closure Wednesday.

The U.S. convoy was being processed at the Communist checkpoints for the trip to West Berlin when all traffic was allowed to resume.

Today was the fourth successive day the Communists had closed the autobahn.

Shortly after the autobahn reopening, the U.S. mission in Berlin reported that the convoy with 44 men had started toward the city.

"There were no difficulties encountered in processing," the mission statement said.

East Germany came up with a new type of harassment of Berlin. The two-lane highway to Hamburg was closed to west-bound traffic for the first time during the week of East-West tensions.

The Soviet Union and East Germany are carrying out military maneuvers due to end Sunday. This is their pretext for putting restrictions on the use of roads.

In the air, the Russians did not repeat the earlier dangerous maneuvers to the accompaniment of ear-splitting sonic booms. Jets flew low and buzzed commercial airliners Wednesday to underline Communist opposition to the West German Bundestag session.

The upper house of the West German Parliament, the Bundestag, is considering a Berlin session April 28. An official spokesman said a decision is to be made Friday. Such a session would be sure to cause new trouble with the Communists.

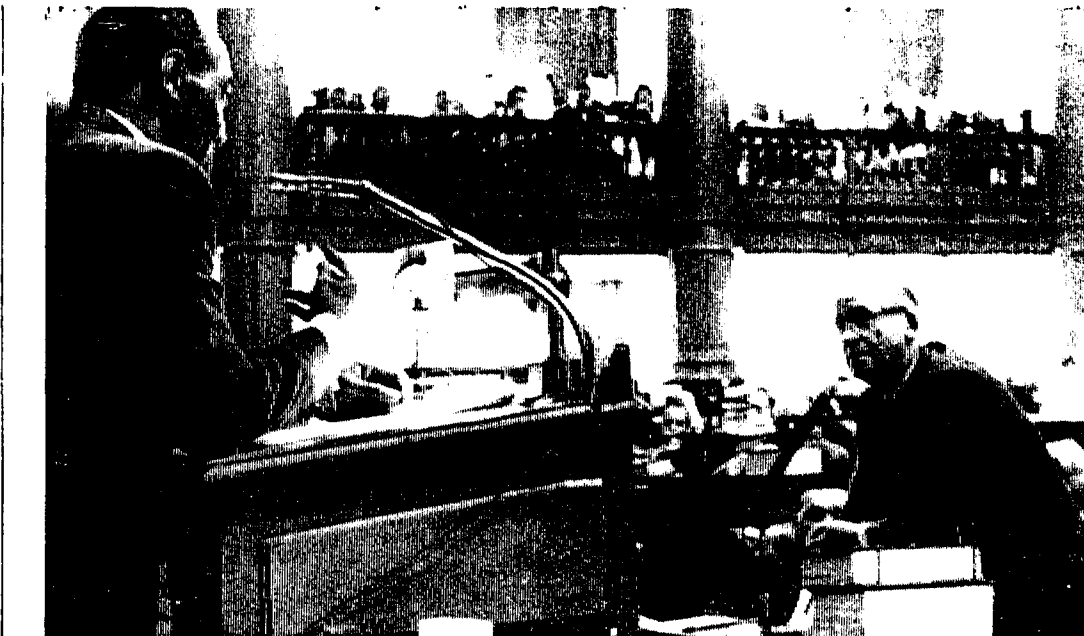

Allied officials had expected the Communist harassment to start tapering off once the one-day Bundestag session was over. The convoy incident raised new questions.

Backed by the Soviets, East German guards at 9 a.m. closed the steel barriers at each end of the superhighway between West Berlin and West Germany. They lifted them three hours later.

In the interim at 11 a.m., a 22-vehicle U.S. Army convoy drove up to the Helmstedt checkpoint, at the West German end, and its commander demanded to be allowed through. The Soviets held it up for 20 minutes, then waved it into the half-mile-long checkpoint for processing by East German guards.

The Reds reopened the autobahn while the convoy was still being checked.

FAIR HOUSING QUESTION — SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Rep. William Pierce, D-Chi., questions the sponsor of a fair housing bill, Rep. The committee approved the bill by a vote of 21-11. (UPI Telephoto)

Anti-Crime Bills Pass Assembly

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Anti-crime bills to increase penalties for gambling and intimidation have cleared the Illinois General Assembly.

The Senate forwarded to Gov. Otto Kerner Wednesday a bill to increase maximum penalties for gambling to $5,000 and five years in prison. Present maximums are $1,000 and three years in prison.

Under another bill, penalties for intimidating an individual would be boosted from the present $500 and six months in jail to $5,000 and one to five years in prison.

Other anti-crime bills sent to the governor would: — Broaden a law which prohibits harassment of jurors to include harassment of witnesses. The bill provides for a maximum $500 fine and a one-year sentence.

— Require a county clerk to forward copies of federal gambling stamps issued in his county to the Illinois Attorney General and to other law enforcement officials.

— Increase the length of time a Cook County grand jury may be in session from the present three months to 18 months.

The Senate rejected a bill sponsored by Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naperville, which would permit courts to grant immunity to small time criminals in order to get at syndicate chieftains.

Baker Brownell Noted Author, Philosopher Dies

FAIRHOPE, Ala. (AP) — Baker Brownell, noted author and retired professor of philosophy at Northwestern University and Southern Illinois University, is dead.

Brownell, a native of St. Charles, Ill., died Monday in Fairhope of a heart attack, it was learned Wednesday. He was 77.

He was professor emeritus of Northwestern, where for 30 years he taught philosophy until his retirement in 1953.

After retiring from Northwestern, Brownell spent several years at SIU in Carbondale. He was instrumental in creating the university's division of area services and its department of community development.

He also directed a three-year study of community life in Montana — the Montana project — under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Brownell wrote 10 books on sociology and philosophy, including "The Human Community," "The Philosopher in Chaos," "The College and the Community" and "The Other Illinois."

Brownell studied at Northwestern, Harvard University, Tuebingen University in Germany and Cambridge University in England.

He was a former editorial writer of the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Daily News.

Brownell had lived in Fairhope for the last 10 years. Survivors include the widow, the former Adelaide Howard of Chicago; and one son, Army Lt. Eugene Howard Brownell of Patuxent River, Md.

Johnson's Stand Draws Varied Response Abroad

LONDON (AP) — Britain today formally welcomed as "statesmanlike and imaginative" President Johnson's offer for unconditional talks to end the war in Viet Nam.

A statement from Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Johnson's offer "together with his forward-looking ideas for economic reconstruction in Southeast Asia" make it possible to end the conflict and give the Vietnamese people hope for a better life.

The Communist capitals of Hanoi and Peking were silent. U.S. officials in Saigon said a "particularly strong effort" would be made to get Johnson's words to the people of North Viet Nam, possibly by stepping up the power of the Voice of America radio.

In Jakarta, an official spokesman for President Sukarno said Johnson's proposal for talks would "avert a war between the United States and the Soviet Union."

But the spokesman, Deputy Foreign Minister Ganis Harsono, said Indonesia wants nothing to do with the President's proposal for a development program.

The first Soviet comment was noncommittal. The official Soviet news agency Tass published a 200-word dispatch from Washington saying the President "expressed the readiness of the United States for negotiations" but it made no mention of his offer to enter them unconditionally. It stressed his view that U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam would continue and his warning to Americans to be prepared for a prolonged conflict.

Tass gave a factual account of Johnson's proposal to extend a billion dollars in U.S. aid to Southeast Asia.

It has been estimated that more than 20,000 Americans commit suicide, each year.

Viet Nam Peace Talk Door Open

PRESIDENT WILLING TO SKIP CONDITIONS

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Controversy flared today in Congress over President Johnson's declaration that the United States is willing — without pre-conditions — to try to negotiate peace in Viet Nam.

"Is this another case of where the American trumpets sound retreat?" inquired Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, heretofore a staunch ally of the President in U.S. Viet Nam policy.

U. THANT WELCOMES UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant today sent President Johnson a personal message welcoming his Viet Nam speech as constructive and statesmanlike. Thant told the President he believes the statement will prove helpful.

Thant assured Johnson that he will continue his own efforts toward a peaceful solution.

Johnson announced U.S. readiness to negotiate and called for a massive cooperative economic development program for Southeast Asia in a major foreign policy address Wednesday night at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

The President, in the nationally broadcast and televised address, said he will ask Congress to authorize a $1 billion American investment in the program, which could include North Viet Nam if and when peace is attained.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Johnson had laid down a challenge "to all nations concerned to find the way to shift from the path of destruction to a united, constructive and peaceful effort which will benefit all of the people of Southeast Asia."

But Dirksen blasted the President, saying in a statement it would be tragic "if our actions now should be interpreted as meaning that the Viet Cong would humble us into a $1 billion offer in order to call it (Continued on page 15)

NO HOLIDAY
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Wednesday was no holiday for Lee and John Holiday of Holiday, Utah.

Their houses, next door to each other, burned down. County Fire Chief Frank P. Jones said arson was suspected.

The houses were not occupied and no one was hurt.

These Housewives Take Trips To Save Money

By ERIK A. WOLD
 OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norwegian housewives plagued by increasing prices take a trip abroad to save household money.

Thousands of them make the 24-hour round-trip voyage to neighboring Denmark to stock up on the vastly cheaper Danish foodstuffs. The solution is available only to those Norwegians within easy reach of the southern ports, however.

Most of the 3 1/2 million population must struggle for economic survival in a price-wage inflationary spiral. The price index, on which wage adjustments are decided, has soared from 100 in 1959 to 120.8 today. There has just been another round of wage increases with some salaried workers getting hikes of 10 per cent.

Automatic and semiautomatic increases in wage rates accorded in general wage agreements will just help boost the inflation spiral in months to come, economists claim. Officially the index figures for incomes and prices increase at about the same speed. In practice, however, the price index is galloping ahead. The Socialist government is facing growing demands from the opposition parties for action to stop inflation.

Elections are scheduled next fall and the Conservatives, Liberals, Agrarians and Christian Democrats will try to topple the government of Einar Gerhardsen.

SOUTH SIDE CIRCLE CONTRIBUTES TO AFS PROGRAM

The South Side Circle held its regular meeting on Friday afternoon at Hamilton's Restaurant with Mrs. Lena Kerns, hostess.

Mrs. Ethel Strawn, president opened the meeting with a few remarks of greeting as the new president. The secretary's report and correspondence was read and approved.

A motion was carried to give a contribution to the "Foreign Exchange Student program", of 25 cents per member. The program chairman presented Mrs. Ethel Strawn who give a delightful and informative program on the American Field Service (AFS) which began in 1914 and through which more than 29,000 boys and girls from the U.S. and foreign countries have benefited.

She told of the students who in the past four years have had their "home away from home" in our city and also of the two local students Miss Alice Henderson and Stuart Hemphill who are at the present time attending the last few months attended schools in Japan and Sweden.

Roll call was answered and the meeting adjourned to meet on April 30 at the home of Mrs. W. E. Hall.

There will be no meeting on the 16th as that is Good Friday.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

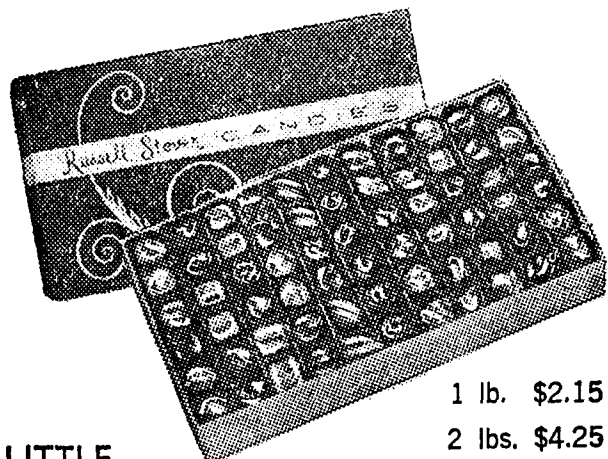

The difference between today's prescriptions and those of 20 years ago can easily be figured. The difference is measured in dimes... sometimes even in dollars. In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy aftermath —

"Isn't it marvelous? Isn't it beautiful?" Bob Hope rhapsodized as he gazed over the glittering throng at the Oscar Ball. "They all came out. That's what is so great about it. They all came out."

Indeed, it seemed as though Hollywood's entire galaxy, from Francis X. Bushman to Sandra Dee, had turned out to show there was life in the old town yet. There was a happy feeling in the air, both at the awards telecast in Santa Monica Auditorium and at the Beverly-Hil-ton's International Ballroom. Not since the prewar era when awards were given at dinner parties in hotel ballrooms had there been so much community spirit. The optimistic feeling wasn't even dampened by the selection of four foreigners for the acting awards. Hollywood now claims Julie Andrews as its own, and Rex Harrison and Peter Ustinov have long worked here.

As for supporting actress winner Lila Kedrova, her award was a complete and happy surprise. The town dearly loves a Cinderella story.

There was the usual Tuesday morning quarterbacking about some aspects of the awards. Much of it centered on the choice of Peter Ustinov for best supporting actor. No one questions the skill of his comic invention as the all-thumbs Jew heister in "Topkapi." But was he in support?

"Who was he supporting?" asked Jack Palance. "He had as big a role as anyone in the picture."

If there were an Oscar for good sportsmanship, it would be in Audrey Hepburn's hand today. The lovely lady, who is not nearly as fragile as she looks, could have stayed mainly in the Academy's pettishness in not will tour the capitol and view nominating her for "My Fair Lady," she flew here to share her coworkers' triumphs.

Her appearance transformed for what might have been a routine awards-giving into a scene of high drama.

The movie industry would be lucky if it could provide as good a show next year.

Sidewalk Surfing Leaves Trail Of Fractured Youths Across U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The skate wheels attached to the country's newest sport is leaving a trail of fractured adolescents from Southern California to the East Coast.

Learning to ride a skateboard often is a period of alarmingly frequent meetings with the asphalt, and the hazards of the roadway version of surfing, has become the latest youthful mania.

Skateboarding is performed on a simple piece of board, about two feet long, with roller wheels at each end. Yet, despite its potential to bruise and fracture, skateboard-riding is accelerating like a car among parents and doctors alike.

"It would be impossible to guess the number of skateboarders in the country," says a spokesman for the Quarterly Skateboarder, a new magazine. "Anyone can make a board, and they've become popular all over."

Several companies are manufacturing the boards, and sales have outdistanced production schedules. Prices range from $2.98 to $29.95 — and boards are selling by the millions. The fad is not limited to youngsters.

For the more sophisticated, motorized skateboards are available. A California man has a power model which will propel its 200-pound rider at 10 miles an hour. The model is operated by a manual throttle and steered by the rider shifting his weight.

The large crowd attending the Stagette March 31st for Elks wives, held at the local club enjoyed a Pageant of Brides. Models wore wedding gowns of yesteryear and also other costumes of days gone by.

Pageant Of Brides For Elks Ladies Stagette

Mrs. George R. Foster served as commentator for the Pageant. Co-chairmen for the novel fashion revue were Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Robert Staples.

The gown worn by Mrs. Verne Bergschneider originally belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. August Kumble, who wore it for her wedding in 1870. Mrs. Bergschneider's mother, Mrs. Harold Ryan, also wore the wedding dress at her wedding in 1927.

Mrs. Patrick Dowling wore a wedding gown from 1901, which belonged to Mrs. Howard Strang. The latter's daughter, Mrs. Marion Langdon, also wore the dress for her wedding in 1939.

Mrs. Gerald Agans modeled an interesting creation from the 1875 trousseau of Mrs. Thomas Archibald, which was loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Archibald's granddaughter, Mrs. Charles M. Davis.

Mrs. John Kaufmann wore the wedding dress worn by her mother, Mrs. Joseph Lawless for her wedding in 1928.

Mrs. Floyd Beates wore a more recent wedding dress, that worn by Mrs. Robert Black in 1957.

Miss Denise Jacques, daughter of the Roger Jacques, wore a family heirloom gown which was worn first in 1941 by Mrs. Albert McNeely; and by Mrs. McNeely's sister, Mrs. Don English in 1942; Mrs. Roger Jacques in 1943; Mrs. Don Danzl in 1945 and the youngest Loneragan sister, Therese, in 1948 when she took her vows and became Sister Therese Martin.

Mrs. Ed Heyer modeled a black sequin party dress belonging to Mrs. Charles M. Ryan and worn in 1912.

Mrs. James Bates was the model for an 1875 nightgown also from the trousseau of Mrs. Thomas Archibald.

Mrs. Thomas Kerrihard wore the 1926 wedding dress of Mrs. R. A. Saner.

Mrs. Richard Casler wore the wedding gown worn by Mrs. William H. Casler of Louisville, Kentucky, shortly before 1900. Richard Casler is a grandson of the latter and the gown was loaned for the occasion by his mother, Mrs. W. J. Casler.

Mrs. Don Hazelrigg wore a peach chiffon party dress from 1912, also the property of Mrs. Charles M. Ryan.

Mrs. Donald Ray Martin wore her own wedding gown originally worn when she became a bride in May of 1964.

Miss Marilyn Sue Foster, eldest daughter of the George R. Fosters, wore her mother's wedding gown from the year 1947.

Miss Linda Shanahan, daughter of the Bernard Shanahans, likewise modeled the gown worn by her mother when a bride in 1939.

Predict Stardom For Miss Forsyth

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It is a tremulous moment when a young actress stands on the threshold of stardom.

Standing there now is Rosemary Forsyth, who is 21, freckled, doesn't wear lipstick or rouge, and looks like a tall blonde goddess.

Will Hollywood open its golden door wide for her? Universal Studio is so convinced Miss Forsyth has star quality that it has signed her to a seven-year contract and given her a year of forthcoming film.

"I don't feel like a star, because I'm not one yet," said Rosemary practically. "I don't know whether I'll ever be one. I've never really thought of being a star — just a good actress."

But after seeing the rough shots of Miss Forsyth in her first motion picture role, producer Walter Seltzer immediately gave her star billing with Charlton Heston in another such as I've had," remarked Rosemary. "and I'm grateful for it. But I don't feel much like Cinderella."

Sturdily independent, she has earned her own way since she was 18. Born in Montreal and educated at Stockbridge, Mass., she worked as a camp counselor and file clerk before becoming a $45-an-hour fashion and television model.

"I never had much of a struggle," she said. "I have lived in some crummy apartments, but I never missed a meal in my life."

"I know some girls work 15 years and never get a break in film test after a studio executive saw my picture in Show magazine. I hated fashion modeling, just standing still and trying to look cool and perfect. I'd rather model a potato peeler. At least then you're doing something real. When you peel a potato, you're relating to something."

Rosemary is 5 feet 9, lithely built, has long tresses and the kind of cheekbones that send cameramen into ecstasies.

World's first nuclear-powered icebreaker, named the Lenin, was constructed by the Russians.

Export 'Delicacy'

Four Hippos' Sounds Like Weighty Order

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE
KAPATORO, Uganda (AP) — Nearly every week barefoot Africans from this tiny town trot into the game parks of western Uganda, seek out the white game warden and hand him a note which reads "Please supply four hippos on Friday."

It sounds like a weighty order, but white traders living at the foothills of Uganda's snow-capped equatorial peaks, known as the Mountains of the Moon, are increasing their orders every month, as more Africans develop a taste for hippo meat and the possibility of an export market increases.

Hippos plunge around in muddy confusion in Uganda's teeming game parks. Thinning them out has been in progress for four years.

The great hulking animals, which weigh anything up to two tons each, have been breeding so profusely that there are not enough muddy pools to accommodate them. Hippos need plenty of water and mud to protect them from Africa's tropical heat.

Each hippo is estimated to eat 400 pounds of fodder daily, mainly bushes, grass and small trees, leaving little food for other animals.

While the African has found something new to supplement his traditional cassava and corn flour diet, white businessmen visualize the animals as a canned delicacy which might delight gourmets of the world. They estimate that a processed hippo will provide them with 2,000 cans of succulent meat.

Game warden Nicholas Rousseau says American importers have shown interest in hippo meat as a delicacy and a few sample cans have been exported.

Rousseau, who has shot many a hippo and enjoyed many a two-pound steak, finds hippo meat comparable to prime beefsteak. He has experimented on friends by giving them hippo meat in place of beef steak. They were completely fooled.

As many as 180 hippos have been shot monthly in an effort to thin down the herds. But ganda's game parks are still overstocked with at least 10,000 who jostle around the muddy pools trying to find sufficient room to immerse themselves.

Traders pay $56 for each animal. The meat is then sold to African butchers who retail it to Africans at around 15 cents a pound. Much of the meat must be dried or smoked before the long trek to the isolated African villages hugging the slopes of the Mountains of the Moon.

Africans living closer to the game parks treat hippo meat much in the same way as Westerners enjoy a Sunday dinner—roasted, fried or boiled.

quits when freedom is on the altar."

Johnson affirmed U.S. support for South Viet Nam and restated the U.S. view that North Viet Nam, egged on by Communist China, is guilty of aggression against its neighbor.

But while a week ago he was saying he had no indication or evidence that the Communists are willing to negotiate under conditions that might lead to peace, he spoke Wednesday night of American readiness for "unconditional discussions."

Last week he said North Viet Nam must show intentions of abandoning its assault on South Viet Nam before negotiations could be worthwhile.

In outlining his cooperative development proposal Johnson suggested that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant launch the plan. The President invited all industrialized countries including the Soviet Union to join and announced a special team of prominent Americans headed by Eugene Black, former president of the World Bank, would guide U.S. participation.

But while showing the Communist world the carrot, the President did not forget the stick.

He said of U.S. involvement in the war at the side of South Viet Nam: "We will not withdraw, either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement."

And while he said the United States is unconditionally ready to discuss peace, he said: "Such peace demands an independent South Viet Nam — securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others — free from outside interference — tied to no alliance — a military base for no country."

"These are the essentials of any final settlement."

Johnson said there are many approaches to a peaceful settlement of the war, that old agreements may have to be reaffirmed or strengthened with new ones.

"We have stated this position over and over again 50 times and more to friend and foe alike," he said. "And we remain ready — with this purpose — for unconditional discussions."

The estimated 1,200 people in the university's Shriver Hall auditorium interrupted the speech 15 times with applause.

Mrs. Johnson studied her husband intently; Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey beamed his approval.

With them on the platform were Mrs. Humphrey and the Johnsons' daughters, Lynda and Luci. All motored the 40 miles from the capital by limousine when overcast skies forced cancellation of a planned helicopter flight.

There was no immediate public reaction behind the Iron Curtain.

Hours before the President spoke, though, Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and First Deputy Premier Kirill Mazurov were asked in Moscow by a Pakistani newsman what should be done to bring peace to Viet Nam.

The two Soviets said, separately, the United States must withdraw.

Last week 17 nations that profess to steer a middle course between East and West appealed for immediate negotiations. Wednesday night Johnson gave them, the American people and the world, Washington's reply.

First he explained why the United States is in the war. "We fight because we must fight if we are to live in a world where every country can shape its own destiny. And only in such a world will our freedom be finally secure."

Second he outlined the U.S. position.

"The first reality is that North Viet Nam has attacked the independent nation of South Viet Nam. Its object is total conquest."

"Of course, some of the people of South Viet Nam are participating in attack on their own government. But trained men and supplies, orders and arms, flow in a constant stream from North to South."

"This support is the heartbeat of the war."

Third, he indicted Communist China.

"The rulers in Hanoi are urged on by Peking," he said. "The contest in Viet Nam is part of a wider pattern of aggressive purpose."

And then he said of America's aim:

"Our objective is the independence of South Viet Nam and its freedom from attack. We want nothing ourselves — only that the people of South Viet Nam be allowed to guide their own country in their own way."

"We will do everything necessary to reach that objective."

And then he unveiled his economic program.

"The first step is for the countries of Southeast Asia to associate themselves in a greatly expanded cooperative effort for development. We would hope that North Viet Nam will take its place in the common effort just as soon as peaceful cooperation is possible."

"The United Nations is already actively engaged in development in this area. I would hope that the secretary-general of the United Nations could use the prestige of his great office — and his deep knowledge of Asia — to initiate, as soon as possible, with the countries of the area, a plan for cooperation in increased development."

"For our part I will ask the Congress to join in a $1-billion American investment in this effort as soon as it is under way."

"The vast Mekong River can provide food and water and power on a scale to dwarf even our own TVA."

"In areas still ripped by conflict," Johnson said, "of course development will not be easy. Peace will be necessary for final success."

"But," he declared, "we cannot and must not wait for peace to begin the job."

The World Today

cussion, said Johnson meant the United States would talk even with the fighting going on.

In taking this position Wednesday night Johnson was actually accepting an appeal made April 1 by the heads of 17 nonaligned states for immediate negotiations "without any precondition" for a solution to the war.

At the time they made the proposal Rusk was reported by authoritative sources as informing the group that peace in Viet Nam could be restored "very quickly" if Communist aggression ceased.

The only condition that Johnson suggested Wednesday night was that there should be no precondition.

But, while he is seeking to persuade the Reds to start talking, the American government is making great effort to persuade the people of South Viet Nam to support their government, which the United States is fighting for.

The Red guerrillas are estimated to have the support of about 8 per cent of the South Vietnamese, the South Vietnamese government about 40 per cent. That leaves roughly 50 per cent refusing to support one side or the other.

To win them over, this country is distributing 200,000 small transistor radios among them and beaming a barrage of broadcasts at them, which also means propaganda.

This is the situation in South Viet Nam where the struggle has cost about 400 American lives, billions of dollars in American aid, and has been going on with American backing for years.

Johnson Wednesday night said the South Vietnamese masses, like people everywhere, want a good life. He painted the picture that modern medicine, schools and food could do for them.

There might not now be 50 per cent of the South Vietnamese feeling indifferent if this country had insisted more forcefully long ago, in helping their various governments, that more of the American aid reach these backward people.

Midnight Gunfire Jolts Town

the Negro home. No bullet holes were found in the house.

At Baton Rouge, Gov. John McKeithen said he talked with Bogalusa authorities and was told there was no gun battle.

"It was obviously an effort by these paid, professional agitators from the North and the East to come into our state and create an incident where they can get publicity and raise more money," McKeithen told newsmen.

In Yates' version, groups of cars sped by the house, with men inside shooting at the house through the car windows.

His host, Robert Hicks, a 38-year-old Negro, saw things differently.

"This car came by and somebody threw a brick through the back window of the station wagon parked in front," he said. "I ran out on the porch and, blam, there was a shot from the car. I snatched out my gun and fired twice."

"Some of the other men fired."

"But it was dark," he added. "I don't think anybody was hit. I hope nobody was hit. I don't want to hurt anybody."

He said there were several armed men on hand because trouble was expected, due to a "Ku Klux Klan rally."

"The U.S. Navy announced that one of its 7th Fleet Skyhawk jet fighters was shot down by Communist ground fire and crashed into the sea on Wednesday's strike against transport routes in North Viet Nam. The pilot was missing and presumed killed, the Navy said."

Officials had reported earlier that all the planes participating in the strike returned safely.

The government announced it had postponed the trial of one of the terrorists who bombed the U.S. Embassy. The Viet Cong had threatened to shoot an American captive if the bomber was executed.

Saigon authorities said the trial of Nguyen Van Thai, 33, was postponed indefinitely.

Hanoi Radio broadcast a communique Wednesday from the Viet Cong's political agency, the National Liberation Front, saying if Thai was executed, Gustav C. Hertz, a U.S. aid mission official missing since Feb. 2, also would die.

The broadcast made no reference to the execution, scheduled today, of Le Dau, 24, admitted Communist agent arrested Sunday night at Da Nang. He was caught in a hotel with a transistor radio filled with 2 1/2 pounds of explosives.

GRAINS GENERALLY STEADY TO EASIER

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices were generally steady to a little easier today in mixed and rather quiet dealings on the Board of Trade.

Brokers said there appeared to have been no significant pressure and that the small losses reflected simply a slow demand. Most contracts were only small fractions either way from previous closes although losses ran to major fractions in wheat and soybeans.

Speculators in the soybean pit were described as working somewhat more cautiously in the belief that a government report Friday on supplies still held by farmers could drive the market either way.

Old crop soybeans rallied somewhat. Soybean deliveries were 3/4 cent a bushel higher to 1/2 lower, May $1.47 1/4; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $1.32 1/4; oats 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, May 70c; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $1.18 1/4.

Convict 3 Of Threats In Row Over $68,000

DENVER (AP) — Three men, including an alleged Chicago gangster, were convicted Wednesday night of conspiring to threaten the life of a former Denver attorney in a dispute over a $68,000 investment in a Nebraska oil venture.

A federal district court jury deliberated seven hours before convicting Ruby Kolod, 54, and Willie Alderman, 63, both of Las Vegas, and Felix Alderisio, 52, of Riverside, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

A fourth man accused in the case—Americo DePietto, 59, of Lombard, Ill.—was acquitted on the conspiracy charges. He is serving 20 years on a federal narcotics charge.

Kolod, Alderisio and DePietto were found innocent of additional charges of using interstate communication facilities to commit an attempted extortion.

The men allegedly had been involved with Robert Sunshine, 43, a disbarred Denver attorney, in a disagreement over $68,000 Kolod and Alderman said they gave Sunshine for investment in an oil venture.

Sunshine testified Alderisio and DePietto had threatened to kill him if he did not return the money.

There was no shooting and no unusual troop movements in the capital.

U.S. Air Force jets and other combat planes flew 63 missions today against a suspected large Viet Cong concentration in Kontum Province, near Saigon. Results were not reported immediately.

The U.S. Navy announced that one of its 7th Fleet Skyhawk jet fighters was shot down by Communist ground fire and crashed into the sea on Wednesday's strike against transport routes in North Viet Nam. The pilot was missing and presumed killed, the Navy said.

Officials had reported earlier that all the planes participating in the strike returned safely.

The government announced it had postponed the trial of one of the terrorists who bombed the U.S. Embassy. The Viet Cong had threatened to shoot an American captive if the bomber was executed.

Saigon authorities said the trial of Nguyen Van Thai, 33, was postponed indefinitely.

Hanoi Radio broadcast a communique Wednesday from the Viet Cong's political agency, the National Liberation Front, saying if Thai was executed, Gustav C. Hertz, a U.S. aid mission official missing since Feb. 2, also would die.

The broadcast made no reference to the execution, scheduled today, of Le Dau, 24, admitted Communist agent arrested Sunday night at Da Nang. He was caught in a hotel with a transistor radio filled with 2 1/2 pounds of explosives.

Gets OK To Act On Pollution Of Illinois Streams

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William G. Clark has been authorized by the state Sanitary Water Board to take action in four cases in an effort to stop pollution of Illinois rivers and streams.

State sanitary engineer Clarence Klassen said Wednesday that English Realtors, Belleville, installed sanitary sewers and treatment works without a required permit from the board.

Clark was authorized to collect penalties at a rate of $100 since Feb. 27. A penalty of $500 was authorized for the first day of the violation, Feb. 26.

The village of Fairmount and the Vermilion Nitrogen Co., Fairmount, were asked damages of $2,292 for allegedly killing fish with industrial wastes in Jordan Creek on or about Jan. 18.

An action against the East Side Levee and Sanitary District in Madison and St. Clair counties was requested for failure to comply with an order of the board to abate pollution of the Mississippi River and tributaries.

Klassen said the action would include the cities of Venice and Madison and the municipalities and industries discharging sewage into the Lansdowne trunk sewer of the district.

An action against the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co., Tuscola, was asked for alleged pollution of the Kaskaskia River.

In other action, the board: Ordered Carterville, Williamson County, to discontinue discharge of inadequately treated sewage into Pin Oak Creek and Crab Orchard Lake by June 1.

Authorized a hearing involving the United Milk Products Co., of Garden Prairie, asking the company to show cause why discharge of inadequately treated industrial wastes into the Kishwaukee River should not be discontinued.

Authorized a hearing involving Dallas City, Hancock County. Discharge of inadequately treated domestic sewage and other wastes into the Mississippi River was the charge.

Early Bird Will Get 'Stationary' Orbit Friday

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Early Bird satellite, already a proven handler of television signals, looped the earth today in readiness for a maneuver to push it toward its permanent orbit in space.

Communications Satellite Corp. engineers planned to fire small gas jets designed to guide the world's first commercial communications satellite to a point over the Atlantic between Brazil and South Africa.

A small kick-motor then will be fired Friday morning over South America to direct the satellite into a circular orbit 22,300 miles high.

There its speed will match the earth's rotation, making it appear stationary in the sky.

The 35-pound satellite was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Tuesday night.

Engineers gave the satellite a test Wednesday and received television patterns of excellent quality.

Signals were sent to the spacecraft for several minutes from a ground station at Andover, Maine. The test originally was scheduled after the satellite reached its permanent orbit.

Students hospitalized included Phillip Hannant, 17; Anita Stone, 16; Frank Delajaynes, 16; Dava McKinney, 11; Jay Moody, 8. Two of the victims were women teachers in their 50's.

All those at Illini Hospital in Pittsfield were reported in satisfactory condition Thursday morning and were expected to be released today.

A Griggsville student told the Journal Courier Wednesday night that Jay Moody, one of those hospitalized, was the first stricken.

He was in physical education class and became violently ill an hour or so after lunch.

The menu consisted of turkey salad, applesauce, green beans, shoestring potatoes, rolls, butter and white or chocolate milk. The turkey salad, applesauce and butter were supplied by the government according to school officials.

When questioned, many of the children said that they had not eaten the same items on the menu.

State troopers took samples of turkey, mayonnaise and applesauce from the school cafeteria to Springfield for laboratory tests.

Supt. Yund said the school would remain closed Friday.

Approximately 311 dinners were served at the noon meal. A source in Griggsville said that shortly after school was dismissed at 3:30 p.m., children became ill.

Dr. Stefan Hyk of Griggsville, the lone physician in the town of 1200, said several pupils came to his office with complaints of stomach cramps, headaches, fever and vomiting.

At 11 p.m. Wednesday Hyk said he had treated approximately 50 children in his six room home.

Hyk said that by eleven o'clock last night most of the cases had been treated, and his office had closed temporarily until further emergency.

Office Crowded

Hyk's office was packed with stricken children. Forty army cots were set up to accommodate the sick, and women from the community came in to assist the physician.

Several of the school children, who were stricken, went to physicians in Pittsfield, about four miles from Griggsville.

Hyk said that many of the stricken children, who ranged in age from 8 to 17, did not become violently sick until after their dinner meal.

Mrs. Mary Jaquith

College President's Widow Is Interpreter For United Nations

At an age when many are considering retirement, a former Jacksonville resident is hard at work in an exhausting career that calls for tremendous concentration, considerable toughness, and resiliency under stress.

Mrs. Mary Jaquith, widow of Dr. Harold C. Jaquith, president of Illinois College 1933-37, is a foreign-language interpreter with the U. N., a position she has held since 1946.

Now in her 60s, Mrs. Jaquith was born and educated in Russia and had just completed her college education when the revolution swept the nation. Like many others of the wealthy land-owning class, she was forced to flee her native country.

She went to Constantinople where she secured a position with the Near East Relief organization. There she met Dr. Jaquith who was, at that time, in charge of the Near East Foundation.

She continued her studies after coming to America and received her M.A. degree from Columbia University in 1929.

Mrs. Jaquith was much in demand as a speaker when the family lived in Jacksonville. She addressed many groups in the community on a variety of topics, using Russia as a background. It was at such a luncheon that a close friendship developed between Dr. Sophie Leschin, now superintendent of Jacksonville State Hospital, and the career woman. Both were amazed to discover that they were not only from the same country and town, but had lived on the same street in Kharkov—a dead end street at that, with only ten homes. And yet they had never met.

During World War II, Mrs. Jaquith taught Russian on both the high school and college level.

Equally fluent in Russian, French, and English, she is well equipped for her role as an interpreter. So essential is Mrs. Jaquith to the U.N., her retirement has been postponed twice.

Role Featured — Robert Osterman, staff writer for the National Observer, discusses her role as an interpreter in his recent full page illustrated article. The article is one in a series being published in that newspaper about the professions and occupations, the men and women in them, and how they got their start.

Mr. Osterman writes that Mrs. Jaquith and Miss Maria-Louisa Araujo, another veteran at the U.N., share an office with several other interpreters on the 17th floor of the U.N. Secretariat building. It's a small office, but the ladies don't mind. They're too busy to be there often.

Interpreting is an exhausting activity. "You can't relax in the booth," Mrs. Jaquith says. "You use tremendous concentration. If it isn't absolute, you lose your way. And you have no second chance." Booth time is kept to an average of four or five hours a day to help ease the strain.

Integrity Necessary — Mrs. Jaquith notes that an interpreter must have a certain integrity as a basis for work.

The certain integrity referred to is not the interpreter's effort to be fair to a speaker with whom he is in serious disagreement. "This is a minor matter. Of course, you don't shade his thought or give it a cast it doesn't have for him. You can't. You couldn't get away with it. You'd be caught before a day passed."

"Every interpreter has moments when he's at a loss. A word gets by him; he stumbles over a phrase. There's a gap. This is a time for complete honesty—honesty to get around what you don't know without recourse to faking."

The big temptation Mrs. Jaquith noted was for the interpreter to "save face." "This is the unforgivable sin of interpretation, to say what you think fits in with the speaker's thought. Your version must be the natural reflection of the speaker's speech."

World Passes Before Her — In commenting about the glamor attached to her career, Mrs. Jaquith had this to say: "I have seen the world pass before me. I have seen anybody who is anybody, and interpreted to or interpreted from the world's greatest figures at times when history was being made."

Her stern features softened a bit, Mr. Osterman told, and behind her careful words images began to appear. Images of Khrushchev pounding the table in a paroxysm of emotion; Adlai Stevenson patiently documenting the case against Russian missiles in Cuba; the stunned, torn silence following the announcement of John F. Kennedy's assassination.

"We are paid for what we do," she said. "But our experience is a privilege worth paying for. To have been a part even in a small way of so many great historical moments is the priceless bonus of my interpreter's career."

GO RIGHT AHEAD — MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A young nurse walked into the Memphis office of the Internal Revenue Service Taxpayer Assistance Service.

"Can I take off my uniform?" she asked the agent.

After a moment's hesitation and consideration, he replied: "Lady, if your question is 'can nurses' uniforms be deducted from your tax obligation,' the answer is 'yes'."

Zing into spring! Chevelle by Chevrolet

*65 Chevelle Malibu Convertible— with color-keyed all-vinyl upholstery

It's the most popular mid-size traveler built— which isn't surprising when you consider who built it.

There's no doubt that a car like this could get by on its good looks alone. Without ever having to rely on family connections.

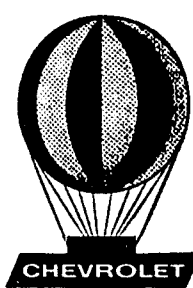

But the fact that it is built by Chevrolet assures you right off it's got a lot more going for it than merely meets the eye. It tells you, for example, that beneath those impetuous-looking lines you can have the impetuous kind of power—6 or V8—that Chevrolet has a reputation for putting in its cars. It tells you that you get Body by Fisher handiwork inside and out (with the kind of meticulous attention to detail that goes into some of the most expensive cars around). It tells you that you're going to get a ride developed by engineers who are old hands at putting the squelch on bumps (Chevelle has Full Coil suspension at all four wheels, similar to the regular Jet-smooth Chevrolet).

Knowing all this, you probably won't be startled by the fact more people are now buying Chevelle than any other car its size.

But you will have a happy surprise when you check what you can buy one for—right now down at your Chevrolet dealer's.

The Wild Rivers Bill

We are in the midst of what may turn out to be one of the most significant conservation periods in the nation's history. Recent and pending actions in Congress reflect a rising public sentiment for preservation of as much of this country's natural heritage as we can. The need for this is evident at a time when population and the works of man exert unrelenting pressure to fill in open areas. The need is even more evident when one ponders the implications of forecasts that by the end of this century America's population will have doubled.

At its last session Congress finally passed a wilderness preservation bill which had been up for consideration in one form or another for many years. This year there has been introduced a national wild rivers bill whose spirit and purpose are much like that of the wilderness measure. It is a proposal that fits in well with the conservation trend.

The wild rivers bill is, as Senator Church of Idaho said introducing it, "the culmination of widespread concern that has been developing in recent years." It is feared that unless such legislation is enacted some of America's most beautiful stretches of unspoiled river will be altered irrevocably. The bill's intent is "to preserve, develop, reclaim and make accessible for the benefit of all of the American people selected parts of the nation's diminishing resource of free-flowing rivers."

If this measure is passed, it will allow future generations as well as this one to see and enjoy the best sections of many rivers with magic names — the Salmon in Idaho, the Rogue in Oregon, the Rio Grande in New Mexico, Tennessee's Buffalo, the Wolf in Wisconsin, Montana's upper reaches of the Missouri, and so on. If action is not taken soon, it will be too late.

Unwise Boycott Plan

There are several good reasons for opposing the economic boycott of Alabama proposed by Dr. Martin Luther King. Taken together, they appear to outbalance any possible gain for the civil rights cause that such a boycott might bring.

One consideration weighing strongly against it is that Negro jobholders at the low end of the economic totem pole would be among the first to suffer. Business confronted by a drastic falloff in sales probably would act in a hurry to cut their labor force, for simple economic reasons if not in retaliation against the Negroes.

A second reason for opposing the suggested boycott is that its punitive effects would be indiscriminate. Alabama whites who have not actively opposed the civil rights drive, or who in rare cases may even have helped along, would be just as hard hit as the most extreme racists.

A third, and especially compelling, reason not to approve of a boycott is that such harsh action might freeze out the rising forces of moderation in Alabama. This in turn could be an enormous setback for the civil rights movement.

It is not wishful thinking to detect a growing sentiment among Alabamians in favor of moderation. Several hundred reportedly have banded together in a group called Concerned White Citizens. Recently the Birmingham News, the state's largest newspaper, carried a front page editorial containing this significant passage: "This state needs to be positive, to put its anguish on the shelf and attend to its business in a positive manner which will convince any reasonable man or woman anywhere that Alabama is at work in a positive, constructive manner correcting past ills and facing up to realities of the Negro insistence on further redress." There are other signs of good will and good sense. They should be cultivated rather than nipped in the bud.

Dear Ann:

Postponement Would Reduce Hazards

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is out of the ordinary, but nonetheless it is real.

I am a middle-aged man in love with a middle-aged woman. Madeline and I lost our mates many years ago. She has a daughter who is 16 years old. My son is 17. We are both very proud of our children.

My son and Madeline's daughter have known each other for quite some time, but six months ago their friendship burst into flame. They are now going steady. My son tells me he thinks he is in love with the girl. She has told her mother she thinks she is in love with my son.

Madeline and I want to get married but we are both afraid of what might happen if these two teen-agers are allowed to live under the same roof. At the same time we don't want to wait until we have to be pushed down the aisle in wheel chairs. What can you offer in the way of help? —NO DOUBLE WEDDING PLEASE

Dear No Double Wedding: Your son should be graduating from high school within the year. Surely you and Madeline can postpone your marriage until the boy goes "away" to college. This would not entirely eliminate the problem, but it would reduce the hazards considerably.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband went out occasionally with a girl before he met and married me. He did not tell me about the girl because she was from the wrong side of the tracks and he never considered her anything but a physical friend if you know what I mean. This girl has his child. This child is now six years old. My husband, being a perfect gentleman, did not try to back out of anything. When the court ordered him to pay support money for the boy he agreed.

We have a little girl of our own now and it fries me that my husband must send money every month to this backstreet tramp. How long does a man have to pay for a mistake that is only half his? If he just stopped sending support money what would happen? —THE MRS.

Dear Mrs.: Your husband will probably have to pay for "his half of the mistake" for another 15 years. If he stops the payments he could go to jail.

Your lack of compassion for the mother and her child is shameful. You sound like a woman who has just had her brain washed and can't do a thing with it.

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are the lady with all the answers I hope you can pull one out of your hat for me. I'm what some people call a career girl. Others might call me an old maid. I'm 32, unmarried and have no particular desire to rush into a fifth rate marriage (as some of my friends have done) just to prove I can get a man.

But what do I say when people ask me why I'm not married? It's incredible that reasonably intelligent people ask such a cloddish question, but they do — at least once a week. I've been gritting my teeth and saying stupid things like, "Because no one will have me." Can you come up with a squelcher that doesn't leave me looking so nebulous? Thank you.

—DIXIE

Dear Dixie: Try this for size: "I'm not married because I haven't met the man who deserves to be as happy as I can make him."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Harsh Reality Dims Dream of 'Freedom Now'

By BRUCE BISSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — No

magic wand can be waved to wait away the obstacles to better jobs, housing and schooling for the nation's Negroes now in revolt.

A Negro leader in a large eastern city told me privately he believes tens of thousands of presently unemployed Negroes in his community are virtually unemployable.

Their deficiencies in basic schooling and job training are, he says, too great to be wiped out. Many are aging.

For countless others, the path to better jobs will be slow and painful as they are "trained up" to the skills demanded of today's workers in factory and office.

Sit-ins could grow old in their cramped posture before the millions of restless Negroes find the greater employment opportunities they seek.

Just as hard to crack, if not worse, is their housing dilemma. Desegregated housing of good quality is here and there being made available on an increasing scale. But the central cores of several great cities are now more thoroughly segregated than ever. The Negroes give these cities their stamp.

New white and Negro relationships must arise before Negroes can hope to see this countercurrent arrested. Communities do not alter their social composition while people "sit in." The only sudden change that could be wrought upon them is destruction, in a mood of violent revenge.

The story is little different in the schools, though the pace of desegregation has been sharply accelerated in the last few years.

The Negro has been starved for education. He cannot suddenly be gorged with knowledge and thrust full-prepared into millions of good-paying skilled jobs and into balanced neighborhoods offering the housing he wants.

The educational uplift the Negro desires and needs is another slow and painful process frustrating to those who cry:

"Freedom now!" It would be so even if every barrier to desegregation crashed in the dust tomorrow.

The final nailing down of the Negro's voting rights is widely looked upon as the key to the huge advances sought after in jobs, housing and schools. Yet the "de facto" barriers in these fields are often very high in northern cities, where millions of Negroes vote freely.

Furthermore, fuller Negro voting in the South—now grudgingly conceded as inevitable by many southerners—could have some countereffects not altogether helpful to the Negro's prospects.

A southern federal judge (whose rulings in civil rights matters Negroes could not criticize) told me in a telephone interview there is danger that a new kind of area-by-area segregation may occur if Negroes, in counties where they are dominant 4 to 1, elect entire slates of local Negro officials.

However democratic the process, the practical consequence in a white-dominated economy could be to retard Negro progress in these areas. Out-migration of whites—and "resegregation"—could follow.

None of these thorny difficulties is insurmountable. But if the cry "Freedom now!" demands their immediate solution, the overwhelming evidence is that it is not going to happen.

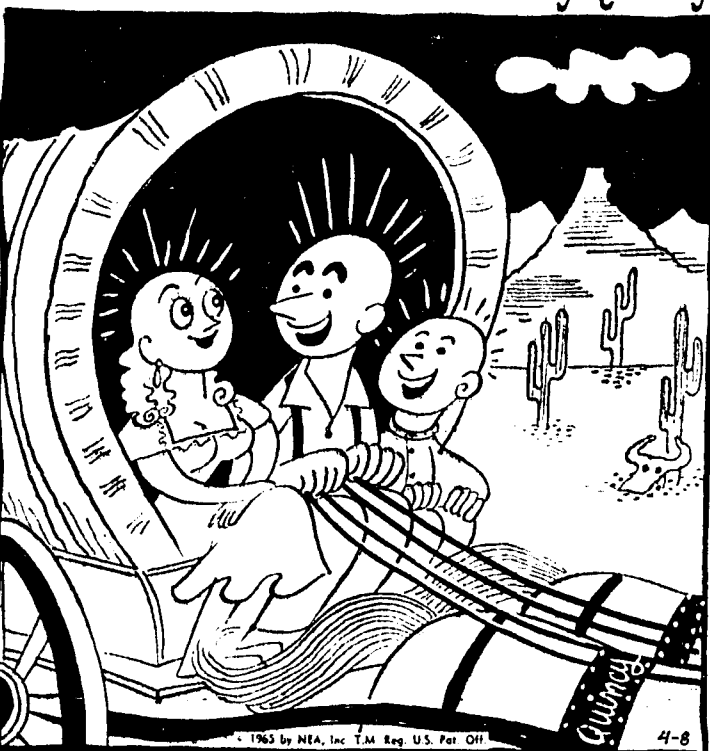

When that realization spreads, then the most heated, militant men propelled to the fore by the Negro revolution must decide whether to accept reality or, in their fury, try to destroy it in a kind of racial warfare which could have no winners—white or Negro.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is President Johnson who is pleading for a discussion to end the fighting in Southeast Asia, not the North Vietnamese who have been bombed for two months by American planes in an effort to pressure them into seeking peace.

They've endured the battering and given no public indication of asking peace.

In making his plea, in a nationwide broadcast from Baltimore Wednesday night, Johnson took a softer line than his administration has been following since Feb. 7 when Red guerrillas attacked an American air base and Johnson ordered bombing.

This shift in position came one day after The Associated Press reported 50 per cent of the people in South Viet Nam are sitting on the fence, supporting neither their American-backed government nor the Red guerrillas.

In his broadcast Johnson offered $1 billion in American aid for Southeast Asian economic development, saying he hoped North Viet Nam would join in the cooperative effort as soon as "peaceful cooperation is possible."

The two Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, took a dim view of this economic offer from Johnson.

Earlier this year, after the bombing of North Viet Nam had begun, they denounced suggestions of seeking peace through negotiations with the Communists. They said such a move would be "running up the white flag."

Wednesday night they derided Johnson's offer of $1 billion in aid as an attempt to buy peace in Asia.

Johnson's shift of position can be seen by comparing what he said before with what he said Wednesday night.

After Johnson ordered the bombing to begin Feb. 7, the White House issued a statement which said in part: "The key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication by the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk later repeated that position.

Although Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Wednesday said the military situation in South Viet Nam has become increasingly serious this past year, Johnson Wednesday night made this offer:

"Unconditional discussion" with the North Vietnamese Reds. His aides, who said there was no indication from the North Vietnamese that they would enter into worthwhile discussions, said they would enter into discussions. (Continued On Market Page)

Some Drugs Can Cause The 'Butterfly Disease'

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although the number of persons with lupus erythematosus (the "butterfly disease") appears to be increasing the outlook for the victims of this serious disease is improving. The increased incidence is due in part to the fact that the prolonged use of certain drugs can cause it. The improved outlook is due to earlier recognition and prompt treatment with some of the newer drugs.

A drug that has caused a large proportion of cases of this disease is hydralazine which is given for high blood pressure. Some anticonvulsant drugs given for epilepsy, isoniazid for tuberculosis, procainamide for irregular heart beats, phenylbutazone for arthritis, sulfonamides for ordinary pus infections, griseofulvin for fungus diseases and several others have also been known to trigger an attack of lupus.

If your doctor is giving you any of these drugs, he will watch for signs. If they occur the progress of the disease can be checked by prompt withdrawal of the drug. Although the cause in most cases is unknown, there appears to be a hereditary factor in some victims.

The disease in its early stages is not easy to recognize because

The Mature Parent

Avoid Mother's Problem

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I'm the child of a divorce which nearly killed my mother. She has never gotten over it. As I don't want to suffer as she did, I recently told the man I'm in love with that if we marry, it's for keeps: that I will never give him a divorce. Since then, he has grown very cool toward me. Why? I was only asking him for what he would have to promise in his marriage vows. I don't know what to do.

ANSWER: I would begin by knowing I'd made a mistake trying to extort an advance pledge of lifelong fidelity. It's a big commitment to pledge ourselves to, even in a marriage ceremony. That's why we get jittery before one. No matter how intensely we believe we love the person, we've discovered that our affections are subject to change. We've outgrown our childhood's intense attachments to our parents; our "best" friends have come and gone and so usually have other people we thought we loved. Before the ceremony which commits us to lifelong fidelity to one person, we are understandably anxious about our ability to do so.

If at the point where we are considering the pledge, the person demands advance assurance that we'll never change, we foresee, not marriage to somebody who trusts herself to deepen our love but a life sentence to suspicion, jealousy and restriction. We literally foresee the "ball and chain." Reasonably enough, we will run for our lives.

It's easy for me to tell you that the problem is that you confuse yourself with your mother—a lot easier than it will be for you to know it. But you must try to begin to see how your inability to separate your life from her life is what dooms you to her experience, loss of a husband. It is that certainty of "suffering" which has compelled you to try to force advance pledges of loyalty from this man you say you "love." I don't wonder he's angry. If you enjoy confusing yourself with your mother, he does not enjoy being confused with your father. I wish you could begin to regard this confusion of yourself with your mother as a weakness to get over instead of using it to arouse your man's sympathy. If you would try to become your own self—a woman willing to trust her value to deepen love that is felt for her one person, we are understandably anxious about our ability to do so.

But he doesn't want to be married to suspiciousness, pity and its endless claims to comfort. Reassurance and recompense. None of us want marriage to dim such exhausting greediness.

Try This Russian Easter Cake

RUSSIAN EASTER CAKE is a traditional treat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Despite all the excellent modern cake and bread mixes and frozen preparations on the market, home baking is on the increase in the United States, according to surveys. The desire to cling to some vestige of tradition in this age of fabulous change is one reason given.

That's why we think home bakers will welcome this recipe for traditional Russian Easter Cake, for centuries served at the ceremonial Easter dinner. This is a modified version and a light powdered sugar glaze decorated with a few frosted raisins takes the place of the traditional white frosting decorated with candy roses. It can be baked in a 2-pound coffee can.

Russian Raisin Kulich
1 cake or package yeast, active dry or compressed
2 tablespoons warm water
¾ cup scalded milk
3 cups sifted flour
2-3 cup California seedless raisins
¼ cup almonds
½ cup candied lemon peel (optional)
2 egg yolks
1-3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup melted butter
Melted butter for top

Dissolve yeast in warm water in small warm bowl. Cool milk to lukewarm, then combine with half of flour and yeast. Beat until smooth.

Cover and let rise in warm place until double, about 30 minutes. Meanwhile chop raisins, almonds, and lemon peel. Add egg yolks, sugar, salt, and butter to yeast mixture. Beat thoroughly until well blended. Add remaining flour, raisins, almonds, and lemon peel. Knead lightly on floured board to round up and smooth out dough. Place in lightly greased warmed bowl.

Cover and let rise until double about 1½ hours. Round up dough into large bun shape. Fit into greased coffee can, pressing dough gently into can. Let rise in warm place until double and top loaf is rounded about an inch above edge, 50 to 60 minutes. Brush with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 50 to 60 minutes. Let loaf stand in can 10 minutes; then remove to wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

To decorate: Blend ¼ cup sifted powdered sugar with 1 teaspoon water. Drizzle over top of loaf. Top with a few raisins.

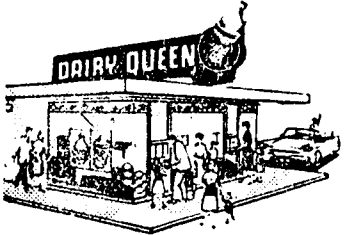

To make black tea, planters allow the leaves to wither and ferment before they are dried.

Larry Carlson was mixing an unremittingly possessive young man.
"Pardon me half a minute," Larry said, and he went quietly scouting off toward the patio.
Clay followed him. Diane had just climbed out of the swimming pool, a slender, supple figure bejeweled by the drops of water clinging to her sun-browned skin. Larry, aware that Clay was close behind him, went straight to her as if to insert himself between them.
Clay was reminded of something Cynthia had said while explaining her covert meetings with Howie Gould: "You know how terribly jealous Larry is of Di. Why, he's even jealous of you, Clay, because you and Di like each other so much in the very nicest way." This explained Larry's guardedness, of course, but what was Clay to do about it? He couldn't and wouldn't avoid Diane.
Diane caught up a towel and went into the bath connecting off the patio, her graceful long legs glistening. Clay turned to Cynthia and David. They were sitting in aluminum chairs side by side, neither apparently in the mood for light conversation. "Sit down, Clay," David said, but noticeably without enthusiasm. His face seemed thinner, almost gaunt. A plaster still covered half his forehead and his strapped chest was clearly a constant discomfort. He suddenly discovered that his highball glass was empty and extended it toward Larry. "Mind getting me another?" Larry took the glass without answering, his silence implying resigned resentment, and went back toward the bar in the living room.

Cynthia said abruptly, as if needing to escape, "I'd better see if I can help Sara." When she was gone Clay turned his chair so that he could face David squarely.

"This experience has done something to you, David."

"The worst part is not being able to explain any of this even to myself. My trouble is called floating anxiety. I actually don't know what it is I'm so anxious about."

"Come off it, David. I don't believe this amnesia bit and neither does Barcello. You remember what happened all right."

David glanced into the living room, evidently wary that Sara might be within earshot. "Keep your voice down. Better still, shut up about it."

"No, David, this is vital to me and Cyn both. Barcello's giving us a rough time. He claims Cyn was there at that motel with Howie."

"Ridiculous." "Listen to me. Barcello is working on two premises. He believes it has to be one or the other. Either Cyn killed Howie, or I killed him because I caught them there."

David stared as if neither of these theories would ever have occurred to him.

"I can't even defend myself, much less anyone else. I simply can't remember. Now get off my back and stay off."

Clay felt an infuriated impulse to drive his fist into David's lying face. He forced himself to grip the arms of his chair and to sit back.

"I thought you and I had a good friendship going, David. But if this is a measure of it, we have none at all—absolutely none."

Polly's Pointers
Try Surprise
Dinners

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — Saturday night is always "New Recipe Night" at our house. Each Saturday I try out a new idea that I have cut out of a newspaper or magazine. My family always looks forward to these Saturday night surprise dinners. —MRS. S.

DEAR POLLY—I sometimes forget to take my lunch to school. This has made it necessary for me to go to the school office to borrow money for lunch so instead of pennies in each of my "penny loafers" I put in a dime. Now when I forget my lunch, I have enough money to buy at least a bowl of soup and ice cream or milk which will tide me over until I get home. —WINIFRED

DEAR POLLY — I do not have a narrow deep bowl such as is needed for whipping cream, etc., so I use a clean, tall, one-pound coffee can that has a plastic top. My electric hand mixer fits into it and the tall sides keep the cream or whatever is being whipped from being splattered all over me and the kitchen counter. To store, just snap the plastic lid back on. —BONNIE

GIRLS — This I really like. Not only does the electric hand mixer, with two beaters, fit in just right but also a rotary hand heater. What did we do before the day of coffee cans with plastic lids? —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When I go visiting for overnight or longer I take a dressertop-size piece of plastic to put over whatever surface I will use for my make-up and cosmetics. This eliminates the mess from powder spills. I try not to tie up a busy bathroom with any make-up rites that can be done in the bedroom. My train case is used as a portable make-up bar and this eliminates a lot of personal clutter.

A baby pillow, covered with corduroy, makes a comfortable couch or bus trips more comfortable. Tucks in where tired muscles can relax. It's good for car trips, too.

On long trips when one might carry along some snacks, I find a small round hat box is ideal as it does not "give away" the contents and looks smart instead of dowdy. —BERYL

"And what, may I ask, are the findings of this distinguished panel of judges?"

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The American dollar is looking a lot healthier than it did just weeks ago. It fetches more in exchange for other currencies. It buys more gold in the free market—meaning, the price of gold has dropped. More interest must be paid to borrow surplus dollars in Europe.

The big outflow of dollars in private capital ventures that alarmed the administration in the final months of 1964 and the first six weeks of 1965 is reported to have dropped to a trickle. The question is: Will this turn for the better last?

Voluntary action by U.S. banks and corporations is credited with the early results. But most champions of this cooperative method of halting the flow agree that its results can only be temporary. The big problem of the U.S. balance of international payments deficit remains.

A further complication in deciding the effectiveness at the moment is that the U.S. balance usually improves in the early months of any year.

Last year the first quarter deficit dropped so sharply that some optimists thought the problem had been licked. Then in the next three months the deficit mounted rapidly. It leveled off during the summer, but by the end of the year private capital and government funds were flowing out at an annual rate of $6.2 billion.

The first half of this year's opening quarter was just as bad. But since President Johnson asked U.S. banks and corporations to curb the outflow the dollar loss has been slight. The Treasury says that in 1964 U.S. bank lending to industrialized countries came to more than a billion dollars and that in the first six weeks of 1965 they crammed in another $500 million. Then on Feb. 10 the President asked for a halt. The Treasury says that in the following four weeks the flow of bank funds was less than $5 million.

The total dollar outflow—capital investments, loans, purchase of goods, government spending for economic and military aid—was running at around the $6 billion annual rate in the early weeks of this year as business strove to beat any government controls that then seemed likely.

Despite this bad start, the deficit for the entire quarter may have been cut as low as $2 billion at an annual rate. Early estimates are expected later this month.

The new secretary of the Treasury, Henry W. Fowler, agrees that the voluntary program "cannot and should not be looked upon as a permanent program. The clear need remains to make our own economy more competitive in world markets and to encourage capital flows into the United States."

His predecessor, Douglas Dillon, says, "voluntary restraint is working so well that by this summer or fall European financial officials may be willing to talk seriously about finding something other than surplus U.S. dollars to use for foreign exchange reserves."

Mac Splits Pair, Cochran Hits Two

COLLINSVILLE — After being rained out of their first nine starts of the season, the MacMurray baseball team finally got into action here Wednesday afternoon as they split a double header with St. Louis U., doubling the first 4-2, but dropping the nightcap 8-3.

Senior hurler Tom Styczen went the distance in the opener for the Clans, scattering four hits, while rightfielder Tom Cochran supplied all the power needed in stroking a pair of home runs, good for three runs. The St. Louis squad was not to be denied as they came from behind in the finale to gain a split for the day. Only outitting the Clans by a 6-5 margin, the Billkins capitalized on three Mac errors for their eight run total. Freshman Dave Berst from Carbondale went all the way for the Highlanders, fanning three and allowing a similar number of free passes.

Looks Like Yankees In American Again

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — This obviously is the year to pick the New York Yankees to lose. They have won five straight pennants. Nobody has won six. Al Lopez, Chicago's eternal optimist, says Baltimore, not New York, is the team to beat.

Yogi Berra has gone. Mickey Mantle is hobbled. Whitey Ford is getting bombed. Roger Maris and Cleve Boyer are busy fielding warrants on the first hop.

Before proclaiming 1965 a get-even year for the vast army of Yankee haters, a sobering glance at the rest of the league triggers a caution sign. If not the Yankees, then who?

Chicago and Baltimore look like the best bets. Cleveland is an outsider. Minnesota has power to burn but no defense. Detroit is so-so. Los Angeles has Dean Chance and Fred Newman. Forget the rest.

US Runners Better Two World Marks

BERLIN (AP) — American runners bettered two world indoor records Wednesday night as the United States took a 77-58 lead over Germany on the first day of their two-day track and field meet.

In a magnificent display of timing that brought the 3,500 spectators at Deutschland Halle out of their seats, Ted Nelson of Canoga Park, Calif., won the men's 800 meters in one minute, 47.4 seconds. Arnie Sowell of the United States held the previous indoor mark, 1:49.7.

Janell Smith of Fredonia, Kan., won the women's 400 meters in 54 seconds, bettering the world record set by Judy Amore of Australia by 1.6 seconds. Norma Harris of Chicago also topped the record, placing second in 55.1.

Germany's Inge Schell equaled the women's 60-yard hurdles record of 7.5 seconds, as did Tammy Davis of Frederick, Md., who was placed second by the judges.

CUBS EVEN RECORD WITH 8-5 VICTORY

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs closed out the Arizona portion of their exhibition baseball schedule Wednesday with a record-balancing 8-5 conquest of the Cleveland Indians.

Doug Clemens had three straight hits, two of them doubles, and Ernie Banks polled a triple and single to help the Cubs roll up an early 4-1 lead against Gary Bell, the Indians' starting and losing pitcher.

Billy Williams blasted his fifth homer of the exhibition season off Bell leading off the fifth.

Veteran Lew Burdette pitched the first five innings to pick up the win, the Cubs' third in six stands against the American League.

Before the game Roberto Pena, 24-year-old rookie shortstop, was presented a gold engraved wristwatch as the outstanding first-year player in the Cubs' spring camp.

Ray Richardson breaks the tape first in this heat of the 100-yard dash, but finished in a second-place tie with teammate Albert Roebuck as Routt's Mike Fitzpatrick came home first in a :11.1 clocking. Other runners in the heat are, l-r, Jerry McGinnis of Routt, fifth, Dave Mefford of Virginia and Bob Natemeyer of Triopia.

CUBS EVEN RECORD WITH 8-5 VICTORY

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs closed out the Arizona portion of their exhibition baseball schedule Wednesday with a record-balancing 8-5 conquest of the Cleveland Indians.

Doug Clemens had three straight hits, two of them doubles, and Ernie Banks polled a triple and single to help the Cubs roll up an early 4-1 lead against Gary Bell, the Indians' starting and losing pitcher.

Billy Williams blasted his fifth homer of the exhibition season off Bell leading off the fifth.

Veteran Lew Burdette pitched the first five innings to pick up the win, the Cubs' third in six stands against the American League.

Before the game Roberto Pena, 24-year-old rookie shortstop, was presented a gold engraved wristwatch as the outstanding first-year player in the Cubs' spring camp.

Routt's Jerry McGinnis romps home far in front for a victory and five points in the 440-yard dash. The Rockets won the six-team meet Wednesday afternoon, nosing out ISD and Virginia.

Bullets Win First In Playoffs 122-115

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bailey Howell came off the injured list to score 29 points and led the Baltimore Bullets to a 122-115 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday night in the Western Division finals playoffs of the National Basketball Association.

The come-from-behind triumph was Baltimore's first against two Los Angeles victories in the best-of-7 series.

The veteran cornerman sank 10 of 20 field goal attempts and grabbed 17 rebounds before fouling out late in the game.

The Lakers again were led by All-Star Jerry West, who scored 44 points to increase his three-game total to 145. He sank 18 of 19 free throws, missing one with 5:39 remaining to break a consecutive streak of 31.

Entrance fee for the tourney is $1. Competition will be any time on either Saturday or Sunday.

Several Teams Begin To Break Training Camps

Several major league teams began breaking camp Wednesday as baseball's spring training season moved into its final stages.

The Detroit Tigers closed their Florida exhibition schedule with a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets. Al Kaline's third home run in five games sparked the Tigers.

Washington stretched its winning streak to four games with a 5-2 decision over Baltimore. Don Blasingame and Ed Brinkman had three hits apiece as the Senators closed their Pompano Beach, Fla., exhibition schedule.

Pete Rose and Tony Perez both tagged home runs as Cincinnati finished its Florida training with a 5-3 victory over Minnesota. Tony Oliva homered for the Twins.

The New York Yankees closed out at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., by losing to Milwaukee 4-1. Felipe Alou and Mack Jones homered for the Braves.

Gene Alley's three-run homer powered Pittsburgh to a 4-3 victory over Kansas City. Bill Bryan slugged a two-run pinch homer for the Athletics in the ninth.

The Chicago Cubs whipped Cleveland 9-5 in their final game in Arizona, with Doug Clemens tagging three hits and Billy Williams homering.

San Francisco lost 7-6 to its Tacoma farm club.

Infielder Phil Gagliano drove in three runs with a single, triple and homer as the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals blanked Philadelphia 6-0. Tracy Stallard, Fritz Ackley and Steve Carlton combined to hurl the five-hitter.

Besides a catered meal, awards will be given by respective coaches of the several sports plus comments by each.

Barney Lewis of radio station WFLS will serve as master of ceremonies.

Routt Cops 6-Team Track, Field Meet

Routt won its first track meet in many years and possibly in the school's history Wednesday afternoon, nosing out ISD and Virginia in a six-team affair at the ISD track.

The official order of finish was not actually known until the meet was finished. Late for the high jump event which opened the meet, Routt's Terry English took his final and winning leap after the meet was finished and most of the teams had left.

The winning jump by English wiped out what would have been a Virginia victory had he not placed and Dennis Bennett had not taken a fourth. Two Virginia jumpers, Dave Mefford and Bill Middleton, had previously been tied for first.

The final totals gave Routt 60 points, to 56 1/2 for ISD and 53 1/2 for Virginia. Finishing far behind were Bluffs with 14, Triopia with ten and Chandler-ville with eight.

Rocket Mike Fitzpatrick was the winners' biggest point-getter, amassing 13 on a first in the 100-yard dash, and seconds in the 220-yard dash and the broad jump.

Adds To Winning Total
Adding big to the winning total was Bill Templin with ten points with first in the shot and discus events, and Terry English with nine on a first in the high jump and a second in the

Nicklaus, Palmer Favored To Battle For Masters Crown

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The bull-like strength of Jack Nicklaus and the recovery powers of Arnold Palmer promise a two-man duel for Masters golf honors, starting Thursday.

Ninety-one of the World's best golfers will tee off over the Augusta National course for the four-day, 72-hole tournament.

But the money of the gamblers and the eyes of the gallery will be on these two men who have dominated the game in the 1960s.

Nicklaus, 25, a blond powerhouse who can drive a golf ball higher and farther than any man who ever lived, is the favorite at 4-1 with Palmer, the defending champion and four-time winner, a second choice at 6-1.

Other odds drop from 8-1 for such players as Doug Sanders, Bill Casper, Tony Lema and Gary Player, to 100-1 for Gene Sarazen, the spry, 63-year-old squire playing on the 30th anniversary of his celebrated double eagle which helped bring him the title in 1935.

Fit And Rested
"I feel fit and rested," said Nicklaus, who sat out the Greensboro Open last week to practice on the 6-800-yard, par 72 Augusta course. "Being favored doesn't bother me—I've been favored before."

Nicklaus, winner in 1963, played five tune-up rounds without once going over par. He won't say but others insist he had consecutive rounds of 69-69-68-69-70. Tuesday he shot a 35-32-67.

Palmer, 35, 10 years older than Nicklaus and enmeshed in a sprawling commercial enterprise, is less buoyant about his chances.

"I always get keyed up for this tournament—I love it," the Latrobe, Pa., pro, said, "but I have some problems with my driving and I'm not putting too well. You have to putt to win here. That's why I look to Doug Sanders to do well."

Sanders, the native Georgian with the short back swing, is the leading official money winner and the only player to win two 1965 tournaments, taking the Pensacola and the Doral back-

Signs In U.N. Point To Full-Scale Revival Of U.S.-Soviet Cold War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations is being shaken by a series of cold war blasts reminiscent of the Stalin era and the shoe-pounding days of Nikita Khrushchev.

The blasts are coming both from the Kremlin and from the United States. Some veteran U.N. diplomats, who have watched East-West relations freeze and thaw, say the signs are ominous.

The persistence of the attacks, and the toughness of the language, they say, indicate a full-scale revival of the cold war, not just a polite exchange of blows for the record.

While the Viet Nam conflict apparently sparked the Soviet campaign in the United Nations, it has been expanded to a general offensive dealing with such unrelated questions as the Alabama racial strife. The United States, on the other hand, has struck back on a wide front, going back to Soviet collaboration with Nazi Germany before and in the early part of World War II.

This is the first time since the Cuban missile crisis in 1962 that the United States and the Soviet Union have engaged in such a general slugging match. Some diplomats have expressed fears privately that such U.N. problems as future peacekeeping

Prison Warden Compares Black Muslims To KKK

CHICAGO (AP)—The warden of the Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary Wednesday compared the Black Muslim sect with the Ku Klux Klan and said Black Muslim prisoners were a detriment to good order and discipline.

"I put them (Black Muslims) in the same category as white extremist groups like the American Nazi party and the Ku Klux Klan," Warden John T. Willingham testified in U.S. District Court.

Willingham testified in the third day of a trial in which Thomas Cooper, 35, a Negro, is suing Warden Frank J. Pate of Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet and Joseph E. Ragen, Illinois director of public safety.

Cooper, a convict at Stateville serving two 100-year terms for murder, is seeking to have Judge Richard B. Austin order prison authorities to allow him Black Muslim literature and to provide the consultation of a minister representing Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Black Muslims.

Cooper contends his constitutional rights have been denied because he is not allowed to practice his chosen religion.

Willingham told the court of two instances in which he said Black Muslim inmates became violent and created disturbances.

VERMONT PASSES BILL TO END CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—The Vermont Senate passed Wednesday the bill abolishing capital punishment in most cases.

The roll call vote was 17-11. The measure previously was passed by the House. Gov. Philip H. Hoff has said he will sign the bill.

The measure provides for abolition of the death penalty except when the murder victim is an on-duty police officer or Windsor State Prison employee; or when the murderer is convicted a second time, provided the two slayings aren't related.

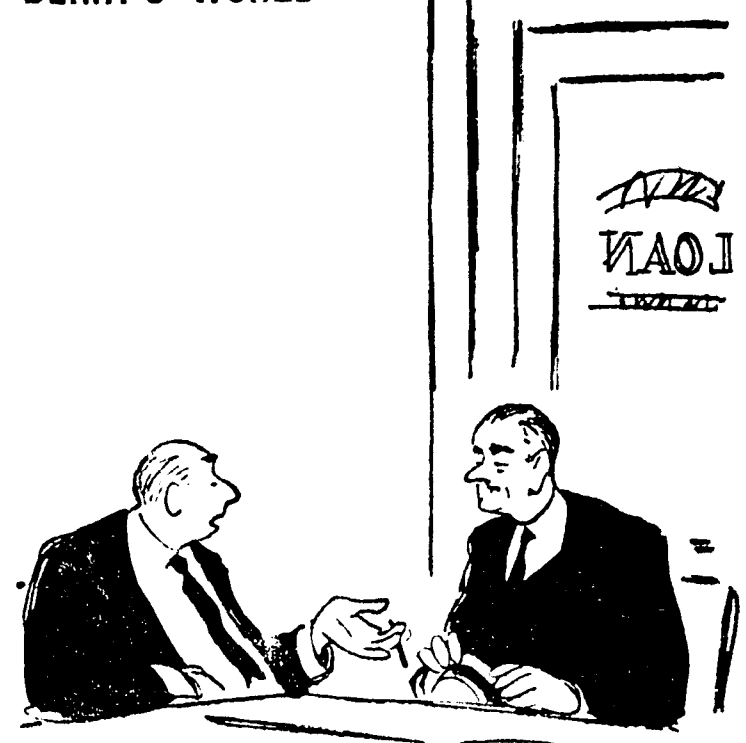

was kept secret but the Tribune said it had learned that the sample contained sodium sulphite, a chemical which artificially restores meat's fresh, red color.

The school conducted its own analysis, the Tribune said. It quoted school Supt. Harold H. Metcalf as saying only that the private analysis "verified what the state reported on its analysis." Metcalf did not say what that result was.

The Tribune and the Better Government Association, a civic watchdog group, have been investigating reports of laxity on the part of state meat inspectors.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Sure, mister, we'll loan ya... to pay your income tax, but we gotta have more than just a signature!"

State Legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Senate passed and sent to Gov. Otto Kerner Wednesday a series of anti-crime bills dealing with gambling, intimidation of individuals and harassment of witnesses.

Anti-Crime Bills
 A key measure, one to permit courts to grant immunity to small-time criminals in order to get at syndicate chieftains, failed to muster enough votes and was held back for another passage try at a later date.

Forwarded to Kerner by a unanimous vote was a bill which spells out what constitutes syndicated gambling. Under the measure, anyone convicted of operating a policy game or engaging in bookmaking could be sentenced to one to five years in prison.

A person would be guilty of bookmaking if he took more than five bets totaling more than $2,000.

Increase Penalties
 The Senate also passed a bill to increase the maximum penalties for gambling to $5,000 and five years in prison. The present maximums are $1,000 and three years in prison.

Under another bill sent to Kerner, penalties for intimidating an individual would be increased from the present $500 and six months in jail to $5,000 and one to five years imprisonment.

The Senate also passed a bill to broaden a law prohibiting the harassment of jurors to include harassment of witnesses. The bill provides for a maximum $500 fine and a one year prison sentence.

Pass Other Bills
 Another measure sent to the governor would require a county clerk to forward copies of federal gambling stamps issued in his county to the Illinois attorney general and to other law enforcement officials.

The Senate also gave final passage to a measure which would extend to length of time a Cook County grand jury could remain in session from the present three months to 18 months.

Immunity
 Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naper, received only 34 of the necessary 30 votes required to pass a bill dealing with immunity.

Directors re-elected for the second year were Harry Crabtree, Crabtree-Neff contractors; Clarence Dix, manager, Forsberg Paper Box company; Clarence Senn, manager, Illinois Power Company; Robert Spink, Spink Insurance Agency; D. L. Hardin, president, Hardin Business college.

Jennings Takes Helm Of IEU; Carey Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul Jennings, victor in one of the bitterest battles in modern labor history, succeeded James B. Carey Wednesday as president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

After Carey resigned in the face of government charges that he had been falsely declared re-elected, Jennings took the helm and managed immediately into the many problems besetting the troubled union.

"I think we'll be able to pull ourselves together," Jennings told a news conference after the 30-man IEU Executive Board unanimously named him to fill the shoes of the colorful, controversial Carey.

Carey quietly faded away after submitting his resignation to the board, still declaring his innocence of any vote stealing.

Carey, for more than 30 years a major figure in organized labor, appeared to be fighting back tears as he walked out of union headquarters and left the union in the hands of the comparatively unknown Jennings.

Carey had founded the union in 1949 and been its only president until Wednesday. At 53, Carey appeared at the end of his long labor career.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council is expected to remove him as executive board member and secretary-treasurer of its Industrial Union Department. A meeting is scheduled for Thursday.

Senate Republicans Alter Bill For Remap Of Congressional Districts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois Senate Republicans revamped their bill Wednesday for reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts.

The new version was placed before the Senate Reapportionment Committee which endorsed it by a 5-2 vote and moved the bill to the floor.

Under the measure, Democratic congressmen William Dawson and Frank Annunzio of Chicago would be put into one district.

Downstate, no incumbents would be thrown together. Under the previous GOP proposal which now has been scrapped, Democratic Congressman Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort and George Shipley of Olney would have been in the same district.

Sen. Daniel Dougherty, D-Chicago, objected to Republicans pushing for congressional redistricting at the current legislative session.

Dougherty said the General Assembly already has a burden in trying to compromise on reapportionment of legislative districts, and that congressional remapping could wait until the 1970 census.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Troy, said the bill was drawn in favor of Republicans. He criticized provisions for dividing Madison and Will counties.

Sen. Robert Hatch, R-Chicago, reapportionment commit-

ST. PETER'S CIRCLE TO SUPPLY FLOWERS FOR CHURCH ALTAR

ARENZVILLE — The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Circle of St. Peter's Lutheran Church was held at the parish hall on April 1. Mrs. Earl Hackman was in charge of the devotional service which opened with the hymn, "I Lay My Sins on Jesus," followed by prayer and a sermonette on The Seven Last Words, and closing with the hymn, "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee."

Soviet Arms Get To N. Viet Nam By Way Of Red China

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet weapons now are flowing across China to North Viet Nam under an agreement reached in Peking to remove Chinese obstructions, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

When the Soviet Union began sending promised arms to Hanoi there were delays in China. The sources described them as procedural.

Talks in Peking involving the Soviet Union, Chinese and apparently also the North Vietnamese removed the difficulties, the sources said.

Soviet officials refused to answer correspondents' questions about the reported obstructions. They referred only to a statement by Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, that the necessary assistance was being sent for defense of North Viet Nam. The aid was promised in February.

Reports had said the Red Chinese refused to allow Soviet planes to fly across China carrying arms to Hanoi. They also reportedly delayed and lost freight cars carrying weapons, and insisted upon the right to inspect them.

There has been diplomatic speculation here that the Soviet Union is sending anti-aircraft missiles for defense of North Viet Nam against U.S. South Vietnamese air raids, but there has been no confirmation.

One military expert commented that American raids usually have been at low levels where the anti-aircraft guns that the North Vietnamese already have are more effective than any missiles the Russians are likely to offer.

Chickens, Veal Weekend Buys At Food Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Broiler and fryer chickens and veal are likely to find their way onto the weekend special list at many food markets.
Beef is in good supply, but there are no indications of any widespread trend toward unusual specials this weekend.
One national supermarket chain is posting these specials in its New York City area outlets: fryer chickens down 12 cents to 27 a pound, cut-up fryers down 12 to 31, veal chops down 20 to 89, veal rump roast at 55 cents a pound and leg of veal at 49 a pound.
Rib roasts of beef came off the special list and went up 10 to 79 cents a pound.
Egg prices are still a bit below normal for this time of year.
Asparagus may be priced lower in many sections, particularly the East Coast.
Better weather is reportedly helping the fishing industry provide more fish for lenten meals
